How the stainless steel portrait is to be placed at the burial space?

One or two portraits may appear ...

Below the family name 1 inch from the edge (side) of the cemetery monument. (The entire oval must rest on the front of the monument surface) and cannot cover a design on the monument.

Note: Always choosing the larger size - If the above specified portrait size 3 1/2" x 4 1/4" cannot fit here, the next largest approved size should be substituted. If the smallest size does not fit here, you cannot have this placement choice.

Additional portraits may appear ...

When the deceased's inscription is one line (given name and dates):

The most popular placement will be to the left – at the beginning of the deceased's Date (Year) of birth. Due to design placing it to the right (as an alternate) is also permitted.

If this size does not fit here, we recommend you consider the permitted portrait etchings or stone replacement.

When the deceased's inscription is on two lines (given name then dates):

The proper placement will be centered between the dates.

If this size does not fit here, we recommend you consider the permitted portrait etchings or stone replacement.

At times, a special affidavit may be required in the event the portrait placement encroaches on future inscription space or future epitaph or term of endearment reserved space.

The cemetery will not permit installations to cover a design, inscription, epitaph, or term of endearment.

Notice:

Failure to file application, Improper adhesion, Improper placement, Improper fabrication of materials, Improper size, Improper attire, improper affixing or attaching items to a portrait will warrant the immediate removal of the portrait or prohibit the monument being set in the cemetery.

Determining the Size of the Stainless Steel Portrait from Catholic Cemeteries?

3 1/4" x 4 1/4" is the maximum size permitted on a monument. When this portrait is placed above and to the left or right side (never centered) or below the family name as described above. (2 3/8" x 2 3/4" smallest size permitted).

1.18" x 1.57" or 1" x 1 3/8" are the smaller sizes recommended for monuments where portrait placement other than the above is selected.

NOTE: Although various sizes (between the 2 stated above) may be permitted with approval, the stated sizes above permit a portrait for most cemetery monuments and for most burials within the lot.

There may be times where a choice must be made to replace the monument in order to accommodate the portraits.

Some other concerns:

Portraits must be oval and made of stainless steel and must be installed flush to the memorial with 3M VHB two sided tape (or its industry acceptable equivalent).

Covers will only be permitted for flush memorials.

Frames, other covers, and borders for the portrait are prohibited.

Additional Documentation Required?

A stainless steel portrait of a living person is permitted on the monument when both designation affidavit and pre-need inscription application work has been filed and approved by cemetery authorities.

A stainless steel portrait of a person buried elsewhere is not permitted on the monument.
